Grace Cottage Is Covered!

Five bars!!! That’s what users of AT&T and Verizon are now experiencing at Grace Cottage, thanks to many people who worked very hard to make this possible.

When CoverageCo (the company contracted with the state of Vermont to provide cell service in rural areas, including Townshend) experienced financial difficulties and the continuation of service was in doubt, area legislator Laura Sibilia (I-Windham-Bennington) brought this safety issue to the attention of many in Montpelier, including Governor Phil Scott. Scott’s office worked with AT&T, and within five days, a Cell Site on Wheels was driven from Missouri to Townshend, and two AT&T employees flew in from Atlanta to install the temporary 50’ tower behind the hospital.

Governor Phil Scott visited Grace Cottage on April 28 and, with CEO Doug DiVello, examined the cell tower and then toured Grace Cottage Family Health & Hospital. “The Governor understood how unique Grace Cottage is and what a treasure it is for the community,” said DiVello.

“In this day and age, people rely on cell service in emergency situations,” said Travis Macie, Information Technology Director at Grace Cottage. “We were all very impressed at how quickly the Vermont Legislature, the Department of Public Service, and the Governor responded and found a solution to this problem.”

Grace Cottage Again Ranks In Top 20 Nationally

For the second year in a row, Grace Cottage Family Health & Hospital has been named one of the Top 20 Critical Access Hospitals (CAHs) in the nation for “Best Practices – Patient Satisfaction” by the National Rural Health Association (NRHA). Grace Cottage achieved this exclusive “Top 20” designation out of all 1,346 CAH facilities throughout the U.S., and is the only CAH in the eastern U.S. to receive the Top 20 Best Practices – Patient Satisfaction award in 2018.

Grace Cottage’s ranking has been achieved because of the hospital’s very high rankings on the Patient Perspective Index (PPI). The PPI measures the overall rating given to Grace Cottage by patients, and the frequency with which Grace Cottage’s patients state their likelihood to highly recommend Grace Cottage as a healthcare organization of choice. The Chartis Center for Rural Health, a comprehensive advisory service and analytics group serving the healthcare industry, conducted the tabulation and reporting process.

“It was wonderful that we received this award last year, and the fact that we have now received it two years in a row is extraordinary,” said Douglas DiVello, Grace Cottage Family Health & Hospital CEO. “We are so proud of the efforts of all of our employees who have contributed to our hospital achieving this designation. Our distinction as a top Critical Access Hospital in the U.S. for Patient Satisfaction means that our community can count on us to deliver the services they need, now and in the future, in a professional, compassionate, and caring way.”

A Word From The CEO

After I was appointed Grace Cottage Family Health & Hospital’s new CEO, I walked in on February 12th with certain expectations based on what I’d read and researched and what I’d seen and heard when I was here for my two interviews. I was eager to bring my 36 years of healthcare experience in various urban and rural settings to this clearly very special and unique organization.

Here’s some of what I’ve learned in the three months that I’ve been here:

• Grace Cottage is really a primary care organization with a hospital attached rather than, as many people perceive it, the other way around. The primary care practice is what the community relies on most, and it drives the entire facility, yet all of the services here are a crucial part of the whole, including the 19-bed hospital, emergency department, outpatient services such as lab, diagnostic imaging, rehab, and the Community Health Team, the retail pharmacy, and the Wellness Center.

• Grace Cottage’s small size enables us to be lean, efficient, and effective. What we’re doing here is exactly what healthcare reform is all about. We’re providing good access to high-quality primary care and wellness programs, moving the healthcare cost curve down. We’re very proud of the work we do to keep patients out of the hospital (as strange as that may sound; we do want to take care of patients in the hospital when they need us, but just when that’s the best setting that’s suitable for their condition).

• Grace Cottage is very well-positioned for the future. We always hover around break-even, financially, but we are working strategically on several fronts to finish this fiscal year in the black.

• We have added three new rehab services (Graston Technique, Lymphedema, and Custom Orthotics) and we’ll continue to focus on expanding our services, as needed by the community we serve.

• Our most pressing need is an upgrade to our Family Health buildings, which were built as private homes in the early 1800’s! We’re working on a plan to renovate our two existing buildings and are anticipating the launch of a capital campaign in 2019 for this purpose.

I have met almost all of Grace Cottage’s 200 employees, in addition to many key community stakeholders and donors, and I look forward to greeting you here “on campus” or at one of our wonderful summer events. I’m told that my wife, Cathy, and I will be very busy at Hospital Fair Day on August 4th and I’ll hope to see you there!

— Doug DiVello, CEO

Grateful patients write:

“I never expected to be a patient, but I’m glad I was at Grace Cottage. All I’ve heard about the place and the people is so true. So many of the medical professionals were simply wonderful people to meet and to get to know. Couldn’t ask for nicer people – they all were so helpful when I was sick.”

— Mary Sullivan, River Vale, NJ, and Stratton, VT

“I recently had my first experiences at Grace Cottage’s ER, and I was so amazed and impressed by the care that I received. Each time I was there, the ER was full, but I didn’t feel at all rushed. Everyone calmly answered my questions and clearly explained what was happening, working very hard to get to the root of my health issue. I can’t speak highly enough about one and all there. ‘Thank you’ seems a small phrase for my care.”

— Cheryl Cook, Jamaica, VT

“To all the nice folks at Grace Cottage, Lorraine Gleason [Activities Director] dried my tears and purchased a cute stuffed animal for my great granddaughter’s first birthday for me to give to her. The nurses and the physical therapists were so patient and helpful and did a great job. There was the cleaning gal who came in to say goodbye to me the day I left. Dr. Shafer treated me like an old friend, even though we had only just met. Thank you all!”

Graston Technique

For anyone suffering from a sprain, shin splints, tendonitis, carpal tunnel syndrome, a torn rotator cuff, fibromyalgia, tennis elbow or other soft tissue ailment, a rehabilitation therapy called the Graston Technique may help.

The Graston Technique is a healing therapy invented by David Graston in Indiana two decades ago; there are now more than 16,000 physical therapists, chiropractors, and athletic trainers certified in the Graston Technique worldwide, and three of them are at Grace Cottage.

Six stainless steel tools are used by therapists using the Graston Technique for soft tissue mobilization therapy, a type of manual massage. Each tool is designed for a particular part of the body. The tools help the therapist pinpoint the exact area where movement restriction is occurring, and to more effectively stretch the connective tissue and muscle fibers, to break down collagen deposits and/or scar tissue that can cause pain and dysfunction. The Graston Technique, which is always part of a comprehensive physical therapy regimen, can help speed up healing, and reduce the need for pain medication.

To learn more about the Graston Technique or to make an appointment, call 802-365-3637.

“My first experience with the Graston Technique was excellent. The kink between my shoulders was gone after about six treatments with physical therapist Margaret van den Bergh. Her stainless steel tools seemed to reach specific groups of nerves and muscles, and she took the time to explain everything she was doing; it didn’t hurt at all! She has a very professional approach, and the Graston Technique is a great addition to Grace Cottage’s Rehabilitation services.”

Grace Cottage visit provides renewed sense of purpose

BY KELLY PAJALA

The legislature meets from Tuesday – Friday, so Mondays are often the one day of the week when legislators have the opportunity to spend time back in their home districts. On April 2, in the midst of my brain being consumed by the battle over gun control and school safety, I literally went out to lunch. Except this was not your typical lunch date, nor was it a break from having my mind filled by the needs of our community. I was invited by Andrea Seaton, executive director of the Grace Cottage Foundation, to visit Grace Cottage Family Health and Hospital in Townsend for lunch. While I have known many people who have received excellent care there, this was my first visit to Grace Cottage.

After having a tasty meal in the cafeteria, Andrea took me on a tour of this amazing Critical Access Hospital and Family Health facility, which happens to be one of the largest employers in our region. As Andrea explained to me, the Critical Access designation is not about providing care to patients in critical need (although they do that), but rather that Access to this Hospital is Critical to the community it serves. After seeing all the types of care that are provided on this one campus and meeting many of their excellent staff members, I could see why Grace Cottage is such a gem in our community.

Remember how I said this lunch was not a break. I was there to learn about this resource in our community and the challenges it faces while serving our rural population. During the course of my visit many concerns came up in conversation with the people I met. The highlighted topics were funding challenges, substance use treatment and recovery, tax reform, gun safety, and finally the loss of cell coverage in Townsend, Newfane and Jamaica and the subsequent disruption to 911 services in the area. The buzz of activity at Grace Cottage encompasses all of the challenges that are pulling at our social fabric and yet there is a vibrancy, welcoming, steadfast optimism permeating through the whole facility. My visit put into focus the enormous effort that is required to support our rural health care facilities, which are anchor institutions in our communities. It gave me a renewed sense of purpose as I prepared to head back to Montpelier. There are so many pieces to the puzzle to work on and I am already involved with some of them through the work being done by the House Human Services Committee and the Rural Economic Development Working Group.

I encourage anyone in our community to visit Grace Cottage, not only for emergency or family health care needs but for wellness activities. Take a yoga class, or a dance class. Sign up to train for a 5k run. Please utilize their facilities to enhance your family’s health and well being and support this valuable resource in any way you can.

Time is of the Essence During a Heart Attack By Lisa May, RN

What is the difference between a heart attack and sudden cardiac arrest? It's important to know the difference and what to do if you or someone around you experiences symptoms — you may literally be able to save a life.

One of four deaths in the U.S. is caused by heart disease — it's the leading cause of death for men and women. A heart attack occurs when an artery becomes blocked, restricting blood flow and oxygen to an area of the heart, which then becomes ischemic and dies. Time is of the essence during a heart attack but, depending on how severely blood flow is compromised, the person having a heart attack may have enough time to get help, as long as early-warning signs are heeded.

In some cases, symptoms are sudden and intense but, most often, they are intermittent, progressing over several hours or days. Chest pain or discomfort, sweating, shortness of breath, arm pain, and back pain can all be symptoms. The patient is still conscious and breathing, but must act fast. If you or someone with you is having a heart attack, call 911 or go to the closest ER immediately.

In the case of sudden cardiac arrest, a disruption of the electrical activity or rhythm of the heart, every second is even more crucial.

A heart attack can lead to sudden cardiac arrest, which often occurs without any warning. When electrical activity in the heart is disrupted, the heart stops pumping and the patient is unconscious within seconds. It is estimated that over 400,000 cardiac arrests occur every year in the U.S. Without immediate intervention, in the form of Defibrillation and/or Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), the patient will probably not survive (with every second that passes, the chance of surviving diminishes by 7-10 percent, according to the American Heart Association).

An Automated External Defibrillator (AED) is a small portable device in hospitals, ambulances, and many public places. When applied to a person suffering sudden cardiac arrest, it senses the abnormal heart rhythm and is capable of “shocking” or interrupting that abnormal rhythm, restoring cardiac function. AEDs may now be used by anyone, not just medical personnel. If an AED is not available, CPR is the next best course of action. If you haven’t yet learned the most recent CPR techniques, please find a training near you and take it. The life you save may be that of someone you love.

Lisa May, RN, received her BSN from The University of North Carolina and her Associates Degree in Nursing at Castleton University. She is the Clinical Nurse Educator at Grace Cottage Family Health & Hospital.
"I was visiting my son in Hawaii when I had to go to the hospital there but I wasn’t improving. My family arranged for me to travel home to Vermont and I came straight to Grace Cottage. Everyone here is amazing. They all go out of their way to make me feel comfortable and cared for. I truly think that Grace Cottage saved my life.”

– Nancy Crafts, Brattleboro, VT, & Scituate, MA

Grace Cottage’s newest volunteer is Frankie, a 3-year-old standard poodle who, with her owner Janet Goldstein of Putney, will periodically be visiting inpatients who wish to meet her at Grace Cottage. Frankie passed a four-hour obedience and observation exam to become a certified and insured Wet Nose Therapy Dog. “I love giving back to the community,” said Janet, of her free service. “After a patient visit with Frankie, my heart is full.”

We are ever so grateful to 11 members of the River Riders II 4-H Club for again helping to mulch and prepare our Hospice Garden for planting this spring. We’d also like to thank Barb Barber, Torrie Kohler, Steve Goldberg and our stellar Maintenance Department for helping to keep all of Grace Cottage’s many gardens beautiful.
